

CONGRESS:

Your constituents want to know where you stand on our nation's health.

Opinion polls show health care and related issues, including research to improve health, as the public's top domestic concern. Action by Congress influences so many aspects of Americans' health. It's important that you participate in this dialogue with the public—including the 125 million Americans represented by Research!America—by visiting www.YourCongressYourHealth.org.

Thank you to those members of Congress who are actively engaged in this conversation:
