There’s a reason the U.S. leads the world in science and technology. American ingenuity has created jobs, driven the economy, and confronted squarely the threats to our health and homeland. But America’s ascendancy in science and technology is at risk. Unless Congress ends the chokehold of one-size-fits-all budget caps, we will falter. Tell Congress to raise the caps and power up our nation’s science and technology enterprises. Because Americans don’t wait for progress. We drive it. researchamerica.org/RaiseTheCaps
